City Council delays ok for ordinance allowing bingo

By Lynne Locke

Upland City Council Monday night delayed indefinitely an enactment of an ordinance which would have allowed charity bingo games in the city of Upland.

The council's delaying action came when few citizens appeared to support the ordinance which is intended to allow fund-raising bingo games for charity groups.

Council members were surprised at the lack of citizen response compared to other cities where large numbers of citizens and fraternal and church groups have appeared to support or oppose legalized bingo.

City Attorney Donald Maroney told the council the state has enacted a law allowing local cities to decide whether to legalize charity bingo games. The state action followed statewide voter support for such a measure.

The state law defines who is allowed to hold such games as well as the conditions under which bingo can be conducted, but each city has the final decision whether charity bingo will be legal locally.

The Upland Recreation Committee has recommended the council approve legalized bingo because senior citizen and youth sports groups want to hold such games.

The council's delaying action was partially based on the fact that neither type of group would be allowed to hold bingo games under the present state law.

Maroney said the law limits the games to charitable, religious literary, scientific, and educational groups.

Under the ruling groups not allowed to hold bingo games include fraternal groups, such as the Elks; senior citizen groups, such as Upland's Fun After Fifty Club; youth sports groups, such as Pop Warner Football; or patriotic groups, such as American Legion.

Council members favored waiting to enact a local bingo ordinance until the state legislature deals with pending bills which would expand the range of groups allowed to hold charity bingo games.

Fred Taunton, speaking for Upland Breakfast Lions, and Bill Arnitz, representing youth sports, supported legalized bingo games as a way to raise funds and noted they hope their organizations will be included in the groups allowed to hold such games.

Arnitz said community residents are tired of raffles, tickets and other common ways of raising money so that bingo games would provide an additional source of funds to support youth sports activities.

Councilwoman Ina Petokas responded by saying it is "very poor" to use "the weakness people have for gambling" if groups can't raise money through the many ways already available.

Mayor George Gibson also noted concern that legalizing bingo is "opening the door" for such things as "card games, maybe poker and that kind of thing."

But Mayor pro tem John

McCarthy noted the city can keep bingo from "getting out of hand" by setting limits on the number of games each organization can hold.

Councilwoman Petokas said the legalized bingo could cause a financial strain on the city in order to police groups to ensure that games are being held legally.

Councilman Hal Bailin suggested that Upland could require groups to hire a police officer for each bingo session, but Maroney noted that the officer's salary could not come from the bingo proceeds but would have to come from some other source. The state law does not allow anyone to receive a salary for holding the games, he said.

Other state limitations on bingo games include:

— Minors are prohibited from participating.

— Profits must be kept in a separate fund and used only for charitable purposes.

— Prize total is limited to $250.

— People must be present in order to participate.

— The sponsoring group itself must run the game.

— The license fee is limited to the actual cost of licensing.

Maroney noted the city can add any other limitations that the council wishes.

Bills which would increase the range of groups allowed to hold bingo games include Senate Bill 103 and Assembly Bill 101, which are presently being considered by the state legislature.

Offers counseling for all kinds of problems

Reach Out West End exists to help people

By Lynne Locke

Where can local residents get help for troubles ranging from family or marriage problems to drug use or depression?

Reach Out West End exists simply to help people, according to executive director Eric Roth, who notes the organization receives funding from the cities of Montclair and Upland as well as San Bernardino County.

Many receive their first introduction to Reach Out West End through the organization's "No Heat" crisis and information line which operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week providing information, referrals, or just a listening ear.

Reach Out also includes a drop-in center which provides counseling and a residential center to help teenage drug users reduce their dependency on drugs.

Reach Out counselors are really interesting to work with, according to Roth, who noted the organization has a "fun, alive way of treating people" rather than the sterile clinical or medical way of treating people who have problems.

The drop-in counseling center deals with emotional or family problems of people of all ages, according to program director Rosalind "Kate" Baker who noted many problems "boil down" to a lack of self-esteem, a feeling of "not being O.K."

Counselors work with the individual person and often invite family members to participate in counseling since many problems are caused by the relationships among family members, Kate said noting the difficulty of a person dealing with problems and then going right back into the same family or environment where the problems started.

More parents are referring teenagers for counseling, she said and added, "Perhaps parents are becoming more aware that getting counseling doesn't mean you are crazy."

Reach Out counselors are optimistic about the chances for people to make personal changes and improve their lives. "It takes a while for change to come together, but people do improve," commented hotline coordinator Dan Sherman.

"It tends to show if a person is really motivated to change, but I never write anyone off," he added.

Kate said counselors find that people have unexpected strengths and resources to deal with change as well as the willingness and the courage to be honest with themselves.

Counselors "can't make anyone do anything" in counseling, she noted and added, "You can't unfold a flower by pulling at the petals."

Instead counselors prefer to work on trust with clients gaining enough trust to begin talking about what bothers them and to begin the process of change.

Even Eric is optimistic about the rate of success in the drug abuse residential center although he knows about half of the teenagers go back to drugs and end up being arrested.

Local AAUW meeting set

The changing roles of presidents' wives will be the topic for the American Association of University Women (AAUW), Ontario-Upland branch 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 13 at the Upland High School staff lounge.

AAUW member Marjorie Bundgaard will present the program. Business will include election of officers and a preview of new study topics.

Women who are graduates of accredited colleges or universities are eligible for membership in AAUW. For information call 987-8807.

Many people find drug counseling "tremendously depressing," he said and noted, "I focus on the half that don't go back to crime."

And, Dan added, a 50 per cent success rate is a good record compared to the 10-20 per cent success rate most drug abuse programs record.

Chances for successfully getting off drugs are greater for those who ask to be in the residential home program than for teenagers who are referred by schools, parents, or courts, Eric said and added, "The only thing that matters is if the person is desperate. Then there's a good chance" for success.

The residential center uses Synanon-type attack therapy to break down the teenagers' defenses so they can understand their behavior and learn to live without drugs, Eric said.

Using drugs is "a chance thing," he said noting that people "get stuck into using drugs if they are weak in some way. Adolescence is a temporary weakness."

In addition to constantly seeking to help West End residents with "mental health" problems, Reach Out is always involved seeking funding and volunteer workers.

When Eric asks local city councils for funding, he tells them the statistics of drug abuse and mental health problems. The residential center can care for a teenager for $5,000 a year compared to prison costs at $15,000 - $20,000 a year.

And the residential center can care for a teenager for $5,000 a year compared to the $50,000 - $60,000 worth of burglary necessary to support a drug habit.

Supporting the center makes sense even if the teenagers are only taken off the street for a year and aren't helped, Eric said.

Noting the 50 per cent success rate, he added, "You save a whole bunch of money, and personal and social suffering, if they're cured."

The Reach Out activities directly reach some 15 teenagers in the residential center, 250 people each month through the drop-in counseling center, and many more through the No Heat line. Indirectly Reach Out reaches many more through the families and friends of clients.

Reach Out will begin a training session for No Heat Line volunteers in early April. For information on any of Reach Out programs or for help with personal problems, call the No Heat Line, 983-3628.

GIVE YOUR APPLIANCES THE AFTERNOON OFF.

Most of the electricity we generate is needed by factories, farms and offices—so people can make a living. The greatest demand for this electricity is during the day. You need electricity to run appliances in your home, too. And the greatest demand for this electricity is also during the day.

Here's the problem: Because of the growing demand for electricity during the day, we'll have to build more power plants. And building power plants today is more expensive. That drives up the cost of electricity to everybody.

Now there's something we all can do to help: Spread the use of electricity more evenly around the clock. Edison is working with large industrial customers to help them find ways to shift some of their electric use to the evening hours. But most people prefer to work during the day, so there's only so much industry can do without drastic rescheduling of work shifts.

It's afternoon use of electricity that's the biggest problem. So you can help by doing some of your daily routine at night or in the morning. Perhaps you can wash and dry your clothes at night. Use your dishwasher at night. Iron in the evening. Bake in the morning.

It means changing your routine a bit. But if we do use electricity wisely, it will help to hold down the cost in the future.

Board struggles over doctor clinic location

By PETER WONG

Indecision on the part of the county board of supervisors may endanger the county's chances of securing a $500,000 grant for a clinic to attract more family doctors.

The supervisors were deadlocked again this week as to where the clinic should be located. The subject will be discussed again Monday.

The board must decide next week whether the county will accept the grant of $499,967 from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation of Princeton, N.J., associated with Johnson and Johnson, the medical supply manufacturer.

The grant, intended to alleviate the county's shortage of family doctors, will support up to five doctors and other clinic employees over four years. In return, the county must find a site for the clinic.

Citing arguments of the San Bernardino County Medical Society, the West End's two supervisors, Chairman Robert O. Townsend of Chino and Joseph Kamansky of Upland, insisted that the clinic be housed in a leased building in Rialto as the "first choice."

The society, which represents doctors in private practice, supports the grant. However, it fears that if the clinic is located across the street from the county medical center in San Bernardino — as has been proposed — it can only encourage medical center competition with private hospitals and doctors.

The clinic's doctors could easily refer patients to the county medical center if the clinic were located across the street.

Supervisor Robert L. Hammock of San Bernardino said that if the clinic were to be located outside of San Bernardino, the clinic could fail because it wouldn't be close to a major hospital and thus wouldn't attract the family doctors it seeks.

Supervisor James L. Mayfield of Apple Valley suggested a compromise that would place the clinic within the area of greatest need in the county's valley portion — Fontana, Bloomington, Colton and Rialto.

But Kamansky and Townsend refused to support the compromise.

The fifth supervisor, Dennis L. Hansberger of Yucaipa, was absent, reportedly because of illness. In past discussions, however, Hansberger's views paralleled those of Hammock.

Dr. Harold Hill of Redlands, chairman of the county medical center's advisory board, said the clinic would need the supporting services of the medical center for the first few years.

But Hans Wiik, assistant administrator of Upland's San Antonio Community Hospital, said that unless the clinic were placed in an area of need, the family doctors would not develop ties to the community that would encourage them to stay in the county.

president; and Mrs. Barney Dagen, secretary. The counseling service has been serving the area since 1956. It is a non-profit, non-public agency that provides mental health services to over 200,000 individuals in the area.

West End YMCA

12 summer camps offered

The West End YMCA is offering 12 sessions of summer camps to the community this year. There will be five 2-week sessions of Trailblazer Day Camp, one week at Camp Oakes, a resident camp, 2 high Sierra Caravans and many more.

The Trailblazer Day Camps for boys and girls from 5 to 11 will be conducted in five 10-day sessions. Each session will feature daily bus service which will pick up and return campers to designated stops. There will be an overnight campout with dinner, a parent's night, a free Y-Camp Trailblazer T-shirt and a beverage at lunch each day. Programmed activities include games, hikes, crafts, nature lore, archery, swimming and gymnastics all under experienced leadership.

Another popular camp will be Camp Oakes, a co-ed residence camp, during the late part of July through the first week of August. The camp is located in the San Bernardino mountains near Big Bear Lake. Activities will include crafts, boating, swimming, archery, cookouts, hikes, riflery, games, songs and campfires, and horseback riding.

Another resident camp,

Camp Fox, will be featured in two sessions, one for boys and one for girls. For one week the campers will enjoy the beautiful surroundings of Camp Fox located on Catalina Island.

Activities will be boating, swimming, songs, campfires and much more.

The YMCA has also planned two High Sierra caravans. Each caravan will travel throughout the Lake Tahoe region. Each day will bring about a new experience under the supervision of trained backpackers.

Always a popular trip is the Golden Coast Caravan. This 7-day trip for boys and girls from the seventh grade and up will travel up the California Coast July 31 to Aug. 6.

Sheriff's office names new captain

A new captain will take over duties Monday at the West End Sheriff's Office replacing the present station commander who has been promoted to inspector within the department.

Inspector Keith Larson is leaving the substation after 10 months of duty. He will be Inspector of Jails and Corrections, overseeing all jail operations in the county. Prior to coming to the West End, Larson was stationed at the Glen Helen Rehabilitation Center.

Replacing Larson will be Capt. Monte R. Davis. Davis, a 17-year veteran of the sheriff's department, is not a newcomer to the West End substation. He was first assigned there in 1960 as a deputy but left when he was promoted to detective in 1964 and sent to the department's juvenile division in San Bernardino.

Davis was later reassigned to the West End as its first juvenile division detective. He was promoted to sergeant shortly afterwards and became the first executive lieutenant in the West End substation in 1969.

In 1971, Davis was promoted to Captain and again transferred away from the West End to San Bernardino.

Davis terms his return to the West End as "similar to a homecoming."

UHS pupils launching magazine

"Express Yourself," Upland school's first literary magazine is slated to begin publication in May, according to John Fleck, magazine editor.

The staff and theme were decided on in January. The magazine will include plays, short stories, poetry and art work by the school's student body.

Although money is allocated for publication, the staff has been trying to find ways of raising extra funds. According to Fleck, rising printing costs and the price of paper necessitate additional funding. Community organizations are being contacted as possible sponsors.

Microwave cooking at Upland High

Microwave cooking is a reality at Upland High School in the Consumer Homemaking Department. Each of the two laboratories have two microwave ovens, and more will be added next fall.

The teachers, Dorothy Rhodes and Nancy Lepper, as well as the students in the six food classes, are excited about this latest way of cooking. It really saves time in preparation when there are only fifty minutes in a laboratory period. The oven is used to make complete recipes, for comparison study with conventional oven cookery, for cooking parts of recipes to hasten preparation, and for reheating food.

Through attendance at various microwave classes, the consumer homemaking staff at Upland, under the direction of Mrs. Rachel H. Bissitt, has studied in many ways the secrets of this new type of cooking which is changing the way food is prepared in the modern kitchen today. Many students in the classes already have microwave ovens in their homes.

The Chaffey Union High School District Consumer Homemaking department has arranged with Mr. Christen, director of career education, to have a special inservice microwave cooking class for interested consumer homemaking teachers in the district. This course is being offered at the Microwave Cooking Center in San Bernardino, under the direction of Martha Green.

QUESTION: Can you tell me something about the street numbering from Euclid Avenue going east and west? D.A.

ANSWER: The numbering of all streets and avenues running east and west or in an easterly or westerly direction within the city, commence at Euclid Avenue and extend east and west. They begin at zero, or more definitely with number one, and proceed in an orderly alternate sequence on each side of the street, with 50 numbers on each side of the street to each block. The odd numbers are allotted to the north side of the streets and avenues and even numbers to the south side. Each block is divided so that the entire 100 numbers are utilized. In case that the blocks differ in length on opposite sides, the same plan is utilized, to the end that the entire plan or system is carried out in as harmonious a manner as is reasonably practicable.

QUESTION: Can you tell our class the duties of the city custodian? M.S.

ANSWER: There are two such positions in the city and both positions are capably administered by two rugged individuals — Bob Martin and Ed Granc.

Under general supervision they perform a variety of custodial tasks in cleaning and straightening up the interiors of city buildings (Police Department, City Hall and library). They sweep, strip, wash, and wax floors; dust books, cabinets, shelves; dust and polish furniture and woodwork; replenish supplies; clean ash trays; empty, clean and line waste receptacles; vacuum and remove spots from carpets; wash furniture, windows and walls; clean coffee area; move furniture and equipment; set up and replace tables and chairs for meetings; secure buildings after working hours; clean and supply restrooms; sweep steps and sidewalks adjacent to buildings; clean drinking fountains; maintain equipment and materials used in work; provide routine information and direction to the public; raise and lower flag, and perform minor maintenance and repair on buildings such as replacing light bulbs, unplugging drains, and fixing water leaks.

To reach "The Town Crier," write to: Community Relations Department, City of Upland, 460 N. Euclid Ave., Upland 91786. Persons should include their name, address and telephone number. Only initials will be listed in the column.

The Migraine Sufferer Need Not Be So Lonesome

By DR. W. P. HELZER, D.C.

The migraine headache is as devastating and serious a problem as I have come to know in my practice. It may be one of the serious defects of our modern day approach to life. It may be due to the increase of so many Dr. Helzer, D.C., who self-treat occasional headaches with pain killers, never seeking to discover the source of their problem. No, I don't say every "pesky little headache" will become a migraine. But you'll never be able to show me a migraine sufferer who didn't first experience an occasional "pesky little headache". Headaches, especially migraine, need prompt, effective treatment.

Following is an excerpt from Pageant magazine concerning migraine problem.

"It begins with my eyes - flashes of light, double or half vision, blobs of color. Then, about 20 minutes later, the pain starts. Incredibly sharp and deep, over one eye usually and back along my skull. I can't stand light or noise; sometimes I have attacks of nausea or vomiting, sometimes a strange tingling in my fingers and toes or even my tongue. But the worst of it is when I try to speak. I know what I want to say, but the words won't come out properly. It's very frightening. The attacks usually last for three or four hours and afterward I can't do anything for the rest of the day. I've been getting them about twice a month lately."

"The speaker was an attractive 30-year-old woman who had lost her job as a secretary because of crippling attacks of migraine. She is just one of the millions of people in the world - roughly three out of every 50 - who suffer from this misdeed disease. For migraine is definitely a disease and not just the "bad headache" that non-victims and even many doctors seem to think it is. Migraine can cause the symptoms of heart disease, gall bladder inflammation, and appendicitis to appear. It is a disease that causes untold damage to the people who suffer from it - and to the employers who lose thousands of working hours because of it.

"Migraine produces such pain, in fact, that in a recent case a brilliant 32 year old science teacher killed himself because he couldn't take the severe migraine attacks that were becoming more and more frequent. Experts agree that many cases of unexplained suicide could be caused by the agony of migraine."

"...There are many side effects of migraine that many people are unaware of. Children, for instance, often suffer from severe migraine attacks that cause abdominal pains not unlike a ruptured appendix. Many children have been operated upon needlessly for this reason, and thousands of school days are wasted each year because of migraine."

"...often victims have to put up with months of ineffectual treatment by local doctors of general hospitals. Many sufferers would rather stay at home in agony than be told by a harassed intern to 'go home and take two aspirin' - a treatment that works for a few minutes if it works at all. A lot of migraine victims are afraid to seek medical aid ... because they have been embarrassed in the past by doctors who accused them of malingering."

I have the greatest sympathy for the migraine sufferers. They have had to endure - largely on their own - the private punishment of migraine. Yet migraine can be treated. It must be!

This musical, directed by Darlene Weber, minister of music, is a multi-media presentation reflecting on Jesus' birth, life, sacrifice on Calvary and His triumphant resurrection. Personal testimonies will be given by Jim Patrick, Carolyn Thompson and Mable Grisso who will also sing "The Longer I Serve Him." Featured soloists are: Elaine Grisso, Virginia Blackmon, Stan Chapin, Walter Davenport, Tony Nicola and Donna Traster. Rev. Bray will do the narration.

As part of its preparation for Easter, church will be observed Maundy Thursday 7 p.m. tonight with a Candlelight Communion Service in Fellowship Hall. The Sound of Truth (Bethany's adult choir) will sing "Why?" by Dick Anthony and "I Will Sing of My Redeemer" by Donald Husted.

New church to be built

Members of Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church have been informed by their Building Committee chairman, Robert Courtney, that actual building operations on their new church has been scheduled to begin this month.

The site of the new facility is the five-acre plot adjoining the Lorbeer Junior High property at Golden Springs Road and Prospectors Drive.

Barmakian and Wolff and Associates of Upland, architects for the new structure, state that the county is now processing the church proposal, which is in the plan-checking stage.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. William H. Ilten, said the new church is designed to blend with the environment and the site using contemporary forms to blend with a dynamic community. The materials are concrete block with plaster finish, tile roof and exposed wood on the interior. The finishes are white plaster, dark stained mahogany, and plush carpet.

The church will seat 198 people in the nave, with space provided for eight classrooms which can be expanded for use as an assembly area for lectures and banquets. The support area for the nave include choir loft with a pipe organ, sacristy, a working sacristy for the altar guild, a general church office, secretary's office and pastor's office.

Parking for 78 cars will be provided on the site. The total building area is 5,800 square feet.

Mt. Calvary is a division of The Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

The new church is scheduled for completion by Nov. 1. It will also have a preschool. Dr. Jeanne Stevens, chairman of the board of education, hopes to have the preschool in operation early in 1978.

This is the seventh year the youth group has participated in work projects during Easter vacation.

Glendora Ave.

Candy bad for teeth

"No dietary agents — even fluoride placed in drinking water — make it possible for children to nibble sugary snacks throughout the day without developing caries," an investigator from the National Institute of Dental Research reports.

According to "Research News" from the NIDR, Dr.

William W. Bowen of the Dental Institute's National Caries Program told the annual session of the American Dental Association that the most promising substitutes for sucrose are the sugar-alcohols such as sorbitol, used in the so-called sugarless chewing gums.

The traditional items of the feast will be displayed, and Lapiques—clothed in the costume of the Orthodox Jew—will explain each item and the procedures of the Seder Feast which predates the birth of Christ, by 1,500 years. Special emphasis will be given to the redemptive significance of each item, and the meaning of the gestures of Christ at the Last Supper will be explained.

At the 8:15 and 11 a.m. Sunday services, Pastor H. Ronald Harper will speak on "Which Resurrection Will You Be In?" based upon the Gospel of John 5:25-29.

Candlelight Communion

A Good Friday Candlelight Communion service will be held 7:30 p.m. Friday in the sanctuary of the Valley Community Drive-In Church, Lond Hill Avenue and Covina Boulevard, San Dimas. The observance will include the taking of the elements of Holy Communion in family style while seated around tables set up in the front of the worship center of the drive-in church. The church holds open communion, thus, all those who profess Jesus Christ as their savior are welcome to participate in the sacrament. The church makes no restrictions upon partakers. However, communion is not open to young children who may not be able to understand the real meaning of the rite.

Pastor-in-Residence

Joseph C. Hough, Jr., dean of the School of Theology at Claremont and Donald D. Reisinger, dean of the Disciples Seminary Foundation, have announced that Gifford E. Olmsted will reside on the seminary campus as Pastor-in-Residence March 1 — June 1. Dr. Olmsted is regional minister of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Indiana, an association of some 250 congregations with a total membership of 103,000.

The multi-denominational School of Theology at Claremont regularly sends about 75 per cent of its graduates to pastoral ministries. The Pastor-in-Residence program is designed to assist the education of all students, particularly this majority, by bringing to the campus an additional resource person close to the pastoral scene of the church and with a record of outstanding service. Among several pastorates held, Dr. Olmsted was pastor of First Christian Church in San Bernardino 1956-1960.

St. Anthony's Guild

Happy Easter with candy eggs

What more delightful way to say "Happy Easter" than with a captivating, eatable centerpiece dessert for your Easter dinner.

The delicious tasting Egg-in-the-Basket is a novel dessert idea and one the entire family will enjoy. And of course, the Easter egg itself is still one of the many traditions of Easter.

From the coloring of eggs, egg-rolling contests, the egg hunt and the all time favorite Easter basket filled with decorative eggs, assorted chocolates, eatable bunnies and jelly beans.

This homemade Easter egg can be a wonderful way of expressing the spirit and joyfulness of this very special occasion.

Here is the recipe as developed in the test kitchens.

Chocolate Easter Egg Cake

One 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) Semi-Sweet Real Chocolate Morsels, divided
1 cup unsifted flour
1/2 measuring teaspoon baking powder
1/2 measuring teaspoon baking soda
1/2 measuring teaspoon salt
1/4 cup butter, softened
2/3 cup sugar
1/2 measuring teaspoon almond extract
1 egg
1/3 cup milk

Creamy Frosting
1 cup vegetable shortening
1/4 cup butter
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
2 measuring tablespoons milk
4 measuring teaspoons almond extract

1/4 measuring teaspoon salt
Red food coloring

Decoration
One 3 1/2 oz. can (1-1/3 cups) shredded coloring

Decoration
One 3 1/2-oz. can (1 1/3 cups) shredded coconut
Green food coloring
Jelly beans

CAKE

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Melt over hot (not boiling) water, 1/2 cup semi sweet real chocolate morsels. Remove from heat; set aside. In small bowl, combine flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt; set aside. In large bowl, combine butter, sugar and almond extract; beat until creamy. Add egg, beat well. Alternately blend in flour mixture with milk; blend in melted morsels. Pour batter evenly into two well-greased and floured 3 cup oven-proof mixing bowls.

Bake at 350 degrees F. time: 40 minutes. Remove from oven; cool 10 minutes. Remove cake from bowls; cool completely.

To make egg shape, join tops of cakes together, using a small amount of the Creamy Frosting.

Cut a narrow slice from one side of the egg and place cut side down.

Frost with remaining Creamy Frosting building up frosting at the rounded ends to form an egglike shape. Decorate cake with melted morsels piped through a pastry tube. Sprinkle green coconut around base of egg and scatter jelly beans throughout the coconut.

CREAMY FROSTING

In large bowl, combine shortening and butter. Gradually beat in confectioners' sugar. Add milk, almond extract, salt and desired amount of food coloring; beat well.

DECORATION

Melt over hot (not boiling) water, remaining 1/2 cup semi-sweet real chocolate morsels. Remove from heat; set aside. In small bowl, toss coconut with desired amount of green food coloring.

Note: Egg may crack upon setting where joined together. Makes: One Easter Egg Cake

Leftovers make second meal

Stretching your leftover Easter ham into a second meal is a laudable aim.

Transforming it into a glamorous main dish is a creative coup!

All you need to bring it off are some leftover ham bits, perhaps leftover asparagus and this new recipe for Ham and Asparagus Strata, created in test kitchens of Rochester, N.Y.

Ham and Asparagus Strata puffs up like a soufflé with crusty layers on top and bottom and a smooth custard - like texture in between. And it gets a zippy flavor from a combination of cheddar cheese and prepared yellow mustard.

This hearty leftover gem can be easily prepared ahead, refrigerated and then baked before serving.

Serve Ham and Asparagus Strata with a fresh fruit salad, chocolate pie, and coffee, tea or milk.

Another way to take advantage of ham leftovers is Ham and Cheese Toss, a salad mingling mixed greens with cauliflower and zucchini. The flavorful homemade dressing can easily be made with chili sauce and an envelope of sour cream sauce mix.

Ham and Asparagus Strata
8 slices white bread
1 1/2 cups each grated cheddar cheese and diced cooked ham
1 package (10-oz.) frozen cut asparagus, thawed and drained
4 eggs, beaten
3 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
2 cups milk

Ham and Cheese Toss
8 cups mixed greens
1 1/2 cups each sliced raw cauliflower and zucchini
2 cups julienne strips cooked ham
1 cup julienne strips swiss cheese
Combine ingredients and toss lightly. Serve with Russian Sour Cream Dressing. 6 servings.

Cut doughnut shapes from bread slices using doughnut cutter or sharp knife (frozen sandwich bread works best); put aside doughnut "holes" and remaining bread scraps in an even layer on bottom of 2-qt. shallow casserole. Make layers of cheese, ham and asparagus on top of bread and arrange reserved doughnut shapes on top. Combine remaining ingredients blending with wire whisk or fork. Spoon evenly over top of casserole soaking doughnut shapes. Refrigerate several hours and bake in 325 degree oven 1 hour and 10 minutes or until middle of strata is set. 6 servings.

Note: If desired, use 1 1/2 cups cooked fresh asparagus pieces in place of frozen.

Ham and Cheese Toss
8 cups mixed greens
1 1/2 cups each sliced raw cauliflower and zucchini
2 cups julienne strips cooked ham
1 cup julienne strips swiss cheese
Combine ingredients and toss lightly. Serve with Russian Sour Cream Dressing. 6 servings.

Good tuna puts spring in lunch

Now that spring is here the move to the outdoors, especially weekend yard cleanup chores, is on us in earnest. It also is the time when those who've been winter-bound like to go visiting, antiquing or just strolling.

Thoughts of an anti-inflation garden have many poring over seed catalogues for last minute orders. It's a time to enjoy a quick lunch break, and what is better than a garden tuna vinaigrette salad that is a blend of tuna, crisp-tender cooked carrots and fresh zucchini used raw. Serve with homemade bread or rolls or oven-crisp slices of French bread and ice tea, milk or fruit juice.

2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
2 zucchini, sliced (do not pare)

Place carrots in medium saucepan, add water. Cover and cook over medium heat 15 minutes or until crisp and tender. Drain and set aside. In large bowl combine salt, sugar, pepper, mustard and basil. Stir in vinegar, oil, lemon juice, garlic, parsley and onion. Add tuna, cooked carrots and zucchini. Cover and chill several hours. Serve with thinly sliced French bread. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

'Cheese' origin

How did we come by the word cheese? Ancient Greeks drained their cheese in wicker baskets called forms. The word became forma in Latin, and from that root came today's Italian formaggio and French fromage. The Latin word for cheese itself was caseus, and from that sprang the German kase, Dutch kaas and Spanish queso. That produced the Old English word, cese, and a variation, cyse, which evolved into our present-day cheese. They're all related to casein which is a milk protein.

Peachy treats!

— Serve sweetened sliced fresh California peaches and whipped cream over warm gingerbread squares made from a packaged mix.

— Bake 6 ripe, peeled peaches, covered, in 350 degree oven for 50 minutes in a syrup made of 1 cup sugar, 1 cup port wine (or orange juice), the grated peel and juice of 1 lemon and 1/2 teaspoon mace. Baste the fruit occasionally during baking. Cook in the syrup and serve chilled in dessert dishes with a fork and knife.

— Saute peach halves in butter; season with dark brown sugar and ginger to taste. Delicious served as an accompaniment to pork or chicken. Peach halves can also be barbecued. Baste occasionally with butter; then sprinkle with dark brown sugar and cinnamon before serving, allowing the sugar to melt slightly.

Pop music review

Bread is back

By Mike Del Rey
Pop Music Critic

The Bee Gees did it, Frankie Valli and The Four Seasons did it, and people have their fingers crossed that the Beatles will do it. And "it" is to make a comeback from the musical world that a group may have left for one reason or another.

Performers in any field are apprehensive about making a comeback with thoughts going through their mind like "What will the audience be expecting?" "Will they accept us or will they compare us to years gone past."

Well if the sold out audience at the Anaheim Convention Center last Wednesday night compared Bread to years gone past they probably came to the conclusion that "Man can still live by Bread alone."

Bread, lead by David Gates, opened with a string of monstrous hits of the early 70s that established Bread as "love ballad specialists." Songs like "Diary," "Make It With You," "Baby I'm A-Want You," "Everything I Own" and their first chart breaker "If" reassured the audience that maybe Bread never left but took an awfully long vacation.

Since the release of their "Lost Without Your Love" album earlier this year, it was obvious that Bread had arrived home once more.

As they did between 1970 and 1973 James Griffin (song writer and vocals), Larry Knechtel (bass and piano) and Mike Botts joined their leader Gates on stage for two beautifully constructed hours of easy-to-listen-to music.

Break was also joined on stage by one of the best studio musicians in Los Angeles, Dean Parks.

Looking around at the audience that showed up for the concert Wednesday one might expect that it was a special occasion. Boys and girls, men and women were dressed in a more self-caring manner. Drugs for the most part were left home.

Bread made a successful comeback because people still care about lyrics and the "clean performer." Clean seems to be the best word to use in describing members of the group. They are still clean cut and their attitude on stage is very family oriented.

Very few groups rely on being "straight" to establish them in record books. Some feel being too straight can hamper a group's career. But Bread is not acting. Both on and off stage they carry a certain self respect about them. Most are family members and they all possess that certain quality to express their love for life in a song.

With "Punk Rock" slowly seeping into Los Angeles it is a relief to know that groups like Bread are still in demand.

David Gates, who did most if not all the talking Wednesday, still had his overwhelming personality. His jokes like (You people out their make me feel like this is one big living room, and the couple up in front make me feel like I'm singing in one big bedroom) helped make the audience receptive.

It was only fitting, I guess, that "Jelly" back up "Bread."

Jelly, made up of Amy Madigan, Jessie Roe and Fred Bliffert, ran into a lucky break when on Elekta/Asylum talent scout discovered them playing at the very out-of-the-way Bla Bla Cafe in Studio City.

debut album "A True Story."

Not meaning to take anything away from Roe and Bliffert, Amy Madigan and her sensual voice more than captured the convention audience.

Gentle Giant does it with visuals, Shulman

By Mike Del Rey
Pop Music Critic

Gentle Giant, a progressive-rock band, almost all but unknown in the Los Angeles area made a commanding showing Thursday night at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles.

Relying on their visual effects and lead singer Derek Shulman, Gentle Giant presented what appeared to sound like chamber-renaissance type music.

Giant not only plays a wide variety of instruments stemming from alto sax to trumpet to violin to electric, acoustic and 12-string guitars but they also derive much of their musical sound from jazz scat singing where their voices are used as instruments whether they are singing words or just notes.

Lead singer Derek Shulman and his musically trained arms bounced around from note to note acting a bit like a conductor. He seemed to throw power out into the audience. His arms would get going faster and faster and then, the lights went out...signifying the end of that song. The crowd went crazy when he did that.

One puzzling thing about Gentle Giant's music is trying to explain what it sounds like. Some say complex, classically influenced, "progressive rock." While others say "pulsating, intricate, classical, jazzy, funky, mystical, futuristic or just rock and roll."

No matter what anyone else says I believe lead singer Derek Shulman's arm is what Giant's music is all about "fast and bouncy."

Backing Gentle Giant was another British band, Renaissance, lead by Annie Haslam. Haslam handles the lead vocals. They're easy-listening-to music sounds quiet compared to their 1969 tour with the hard-rocking Yardbirds.

Annie Haslam has what I would call peaceful overtones in her voice, the type of sound that puts people in an "ahhhhh" state. She goes high then low. Overall her vocal box will fare well for Renaissance.

New bionic testing center at Universal

Have you ever wanted to leap over incredible heights, run 60 miles an hour, lift a two-ton truck or kick a tire flat? Well, now you can do just that at the Six Million Dollar Man / Bionic Woman Testing Center, the newest feature on the Universal Studios Tour.

Three new sets have been added to the Tour's Stage 32 to include a "Bionic" experience allowing tour visitors to actually participate in many of the "stunts" and "feats of Bionic strength" demonstrated on television.

On the first set, a guest will be selected to outrace the "Six Million Dollar Man" by riding a high powered motorcycle, complete with simulated vibrations and sound effects as the "behind the scenes" techniques are explained.

On the second set, Tour visitors will find themselves inside Jaime Sommers' (the Bionic Woman) coach-house apartment where the guide will reveal top secrets about Bionic powers and familiar television illusions.

The third set is the "Six Million Dollar Man / Bionic Woman Testing Center." Here visitors will experience being "temporarily" implanted with super-human bionic parts. They will be able to kick tires causing "blow-outs," lift a truck with little effort, challenge six strong men to a gut-of-war, be able to run 60 miles per hour and leap over large barriers to the amazement of fellow visitors.

Everyone will be invited to participate in feats of strength in Prop Plaza, so bring a camera, you will be lifting trucks, boulders, cannon balls and pushing over large trees with your Bionic powers.

Maintaining an aquarium

By Robert L. Stear,
D.V.M.
Manager of Veterinary Services
Norden Laboratories

The key to establishing and maintaining a thriving aquarium can be summarized briefly: proper food, water quality and stocking.

Of the three, water quality is probably the most important, and the secret here lies in preparation.

Water straight from the tap, containing chlorine or fluoride compounds, is not suitable for most tropical fish. Tap water for an aquarium should age in an open container for two or three days so that the chlorine will evaporate. Aging, however, will not eliminate fluoride compounds. These can be neutralized by adding a chemical compound available in stores.

Most fish prefer soft (slightly acidic) water. You can modify standard tap water chemically or collect rainwater, which is usually quite acidic. If you do use rainwater, wait to collect it until several minutes after the start of a storm, so that dust and dirt have been washed from the air.

A pH kit will help in determining the acidity of the water in your aquarium. Many factors — including the addition of water to compensate for evaporation or waste products from plants and fish — can change the water's pH. It should be checked once a month and corrected, if necessary.

Water temperature is also important to the health of tropical fish. Your main concern should be with temperature extremes and temperature fluctuations. Frequent changes in temperature, even within the favorable range of 70 degrees to 85 degrees F., can force fish to make adjustments that leave the weakened and susceptible to disease. An aquarium thermometer and heater can aid in keeping the tank at the proper temperature.

A properly balanced aquarium needs regular small additions of aged water to compensate for evaporation. There should be no need to replace the entire volume of water at one time. Cloudy or greenish water is best controlled by correcting the underlying problem — overfeeding, excessive sunlight — rather than by periodic emptying of the tank's contents.

Overfeeding is a common cause of cloudy water. Leftover food spoils quickly contaminating the water and encouraging the growth of harmful bacteria. If there is any food left on the water surface or on the tank bottom 10 minutes after feeding, you are providing too much. Your fish should be hungry enough to feed actively and search for stray particles in the water before you feed them again.

Although some fish will thrive on a steady diet of the same dried food, an occasional meal of live food helps keep them in top condition. This is especially desirable if you wish to breed your fish. Brine shrimp eggs (hatched at home) and white worms are generally available at pet shops; mosquito larvae and daphnia (also called water fleas) can be caught in shallow ponds or swampy areas. If none of these are available to you, scatter a bit of very finely diced fish in the aquarium once or twice a month.

There is always the temptation to overstock your aquarium. In a tank with no aeration system, calculate one inch of fish (excluding tail) per gallon of water for proper spacing. A good air pump will let you double the stocking capacity of the tank since moving water will absorb a great deal more oxygen.

The fish you stock should be compatible in size and temperament. With a little reading, you will discover individual differences in varieties — those fish that do best in pairs and those that tolerate other smaller fish.

Ich, the most common disease of aquarium fish, is identified by white pinhead-sized spots scattered over the body and fins. Fuzzy, irregular cotton-like patches on the fish are signs of fungal infection. They generally occur on a fish that already has a bruise or other skin injury.

Treatment for these problems varies. Bacterial infections are best controlled by antibiotics, while fungus growths can be treated with dilute antiseptic solutions. Often a warm salt water bath can be used to encourage parasites to loosen their hold on the fish's skin, so the parasites can be exposed to the proper medication.

Your veterinarian may be able to recommend a reference book that will list the proper concentrations and types of remedies for your tropical fish.

Kellogg West addition begun

Dr. Robert C. Kramer, president of California State Polytechnic University, Pomona, has announced that the university has begun construction on the privately-funded $2.3 million expansion of the Kellogg West Center for Continuing Education.

The year-long building project will provide 36 additional double occupancy overnight lodge rooms as well as 5,700 square feet of additional conference and dining space. An added feature of the expansion is the construction of a Center for Hospitality Education which will be used by the university's hotel and restaurant management program.

The new project will add 26,618 square feet to the existing facility. Costate Contractors of Long Beach, have been awarded the contract.

Starting with an initial grant of $3 million in 1968, the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Mich., has been the primary contributor to this privately funded project. Additional grants from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation totaling $1.7 million have also been received, bringing its project support to a total of $4.7 million.

A gift of $100,000 from the Southern California Restaurant Association and funds from West Coast supporters, coupled with the Kellogg Foundation grants, have made the center's expansion possible.

Inquiries concerning Kellogg West programs and services should be directed to the center by calling 714-595-7511.

Health Tips

Ringworm: a fungus

EDITOR'S NOTE: Health Tips is a column of the California Medical Education and Research Foundation, prepared and edited by physician members of the California Medical Association. It is reprinted by this newspaper as a public service.

"Ringworm" is a skin disorder which is misleadingly named. It is not caused by a worm, and the lesions are not necessarily ringed. It is a fungus infection which is quite common. Some persons are more susceptible to fungus than others, and this susceptibility can be heightened by such conditions as heat and moisture.

Fungus infection most frequently occurs on the scalp, body, hands, feet or nails. The infection can be stubborn, and only in recent years has medication been developed which can control the more resistant cases.

Fungus infection is contagious. Although it is rarely a serious health problem it should be treated by a doctor—not only because of its discomfort but because if it is not treated it might infect others. When it causes a break in the skin it may open the way for other more dangerous infections.

Fungus infection of the scalp can be a very contagious disease in children. When a child is infected, patches of baldness may appear on the scalp. These patches are round, gray and scaly, with a covering of tiny hair which has been broken off at the scalp surface. This infection of the scalp may spread from one child to another if they use each other's comb and brush, wear each other's hats or lean back against contaminated high-backed seats in automobiles, theaters, etc. A child may get the infection from a cat, dog or other pet.

When a fungus infection appears on the body, it occurs in patches about the size of a small coin bordered with tiny, itchy blisters. This type of infection usually appears on the face or neck, but it may occur on any part of the body. As in the case of fungus of the scalp, this disease occurs frequently among children. To prevent further infection, an infected animal as well as the child should be treated for the disease.

Athlete's Foot

Older children and adults are likely to suffer from fungus infection of the feet, commonly known as athlete's foot. Symptoms of athlete's foot include itching between the toes, scaling, blisters which enlarge if the disease remains untreated and, in severe cases, swelling, redness and rawness.

Since everyone is a potential victim of athlete's foot, preventive foot hygiene should be followed. Feet should be bathed regularly with energetic soaping between the toes. Dry your feet thoroughly and dust with a good medicated foot powder. Keep the feet dry. Wear comfortable, roomy shoes and stockings so that air can circulate.

The most stubborn form of fungus infection occurs in the nail. If untreated, it can spread through the nail, leaving it discolored, grooved and brittle.

A major breakthrough in treating fungus infections of the scalp and body was the development some years ago of griseofulvin, a drug taken by mouth. Various creams and other medications have been effective in the treatment of athlete's foot.

All of us can accept some responsibility for the prevention of fungus infection through our own practices of hygiene and through being careful about not spreading it to others.

What equal opportunity?

By State Senator
H. L. "Bill" Richardson
One hears a lot of complaining today about so-called "equal opportunity employment" and "affirmative action" hiring programs.

The stated goal of Affirmative Action was to prevent discrimination in the job market.

A few of us thought that these high-sounding governmentally sponsored programs were nothing more than fungus patches of reverse discrimination where inequity would breed and prosper. Let's look at the record.

Currently pending in the courts is the case of a highly-qualified young man who was denied admittance to a university medical school solely because he was not a member of some kind of minority.

One has to ask if we aren't discriminating against the rights to this young man to pursue his chosen career of medicine. Further, are we denying the public the services of a good and much-needed doctor? And what about the student's parents whose taxes support the university?

Is this how our government and its multitude of hot-shot egalitarians should go about protecting the individual rights of all of our citizens regardless of race, creed or national origin?

You may be asking yourself just how serious these infringements are on our individual rights. You may also be asking yourself to what degree are some of the Affirmative Action programs mismanaged and perverted. These are very good questions to ponder because soon they might just affect you, your job and your family's future.

Whether or not it is the government's intent to deny equal opportunities to all, judge for yourself if the following situation is an example of what can be done by some of our nameless, faceless bureaucratic do-gooders — all in the name of equal opportunity.

Recently, the State Department of Parks and Recreation decided that they needed to hire around 30 to 35 state park technicians. A state park technician provides assistance to park rangers and has a salary range of $842 — $919 per month.

The normal procedure for hiring requires that the regional offices of the Department of Parks and Recreation circulate and post notices of forthcoming examinations and interviews for the positions. Since park technicians are usually young college-age people, normal procedure would be to work through the job placement office on campus.

Let's look at what happened to the procedures for the examination that was given on March 12, 1977.

On Feb. 9, 1977, a group of bureaucrats, comprised of employees of the state Personnel Board and park and recreation "hotshots," met to decide how the recruiting would be done for the state park technicians. Following that meeting the Personnel Board sent a directive in memo form to the district superintendents of the Department of Parks and Recreation.

In turn, on Feb. 24, 1977, a district superintendent sent a memo to his area manager along with a copy of the personnel board directive which gave specific instructions as to how the recruiting was to be conducted.

Also accompanying the memo to the area manager was a printed flyer, in limited quantity, which was to serve as a recruiting poster. Keep in mind that these posters are supposed to be widely circulated for publicity to allow equal opportunity for everyone to participate.

The state Personnel Board directive stated, "...widespread publicity and recruitment is not advisable. Contacts should be focused only on minority community and school groups." Is this equal opportunity for all?

The directive further stated that the printing of the publicity flyers had been delayed, yet the area managers had been given special flyers for dissemination only to the minority groups. This was prior to most of the public having access to the publicity flyers which were of a different type. One area manager received his public flyer on March 10, the day the examination was given. Is this equal opportunity for all?

To control the flow of information and prevent the printing of more flyers, the directive also instructed, "These are the only announcements to be used in order to insure consistent communication of information." I wonder if this is something like managing the news?

The personnel board directive also stated that, "Community contacts should be made only with minority groups." It went on to say, "You will have better results reaching minorities on campus by working with ethnic studies and women's groups, rather than placement offices. The same holds true for local Employment Development Department offices."

Dwarf fruit trees may have a future in California's agriculture. The trees reach a mature height of 5½ feet, eliminating the need for ladders to prune, thin and harvest. More dwarfs can be planted to the acre than conventional fruit trees and, best of all in this drought era.

Microwave cooking is for vegetarian dishes

People who prefer to get their protein from foods other than meat are often limited to elaborate vegetable casseroles. These may make the most out of a vegetarian's food choices, but all too often these recipes also take the most time to prepare. A new answer is meatless microwave cooking, recipes that are designed to be as considerate of the cook's time as they are of her vegetarian preferences.

Here is a wait-less, meatless meal for two adults and two pre-teen-age children which can be prepared quickly and easily in a microwave or regular oven.

Recipes include variations for both types of cooking, to cover every kitchen contingency.

Meat-less this may be, but it is high in protein, thanks to the combination of beans and cheeses in the main dish and instant nonfat milk and peanuts in the delectable dessert.

You'll never run out of time with this wait-less meal, and you'll be treating your family to new taste sensations that also have all the nutritional balance they need. You may be a part-time cook, but here's another foolproof meal.

MEXICAN PIZZA

(Makes two 12-inch pizzas)
4 cups buttermilk baking mix
1 cup water
1 3/4 cups (17-ounce can) refried beans
1 cup (8-ounce can) tomato sauce
2/3 cup (6 ounce can) tomato paste
1/2 teaspoon Italian seasoning
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Mozzarella cheese
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 cup (two 2 1/4-ounce ounce cans) drained sliced ripe olives
1 cup (two 2 1/2 ounce jars) drained sliced mushrooms

1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Combine 2 cups baking mix with 1/2 cup water in medium bowl. Mix until blended. Knead dough on lightly floured board until smooth. Roll into circle to fit 12-inch pizza pan. Place in pan; crimp edges. Repeat with remaining baking mix and water to make second pizza crust. Spread equal amount of beans on both crusts. Combine tomato sauce, tomato paste, Italian seasoning, garlic salt and onion in small bowl. Blend well. Spread equal amount of mixture on both crusts. Top each pizza with 1/2 cup Mozzarella cheese, 1/2 cup Cheddar cheese, 1/2 cup olives, 1/2 cup mushrooms, 1/4 cup green pepper and 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 minutes or until crust is browned and cheese is bubbly.

To prepare three 9-inch pizzas in microwave oven: Prepare dough as above but combine to make one large piece of dough. Divide into thirds. Roll out each piece inot 9-inch circle. Ease each circle of dough into a 9-inch pie plate. (Dough will only go halfway up sides of plate.) Prepare pizzas as above, dividing ingredients equally into thirds. Place each pizza in microwave oven. Cook on high temperature 5 minutes. Rotate; cook additional 5 minutes or until cheese and sauce are bubbly.

CITRUS SALAD

1/4 cup oil and vinegar dressing
Arrange oranges and grapefruit on bed of lettuce. Sprinkle with parsley. Pour salad dressing over each serving.

CHOCOLATE TORTONI

(Makes 6 servings)

1 package (3% ounces) chocolate pudding mix
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/3 cup toasted flaked coconut
1/4 cup chopped peanuts
1/4 cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals
1/4 cup ice water
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine liquid instant milk and pudding mix in medium saucepan. Heat to boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla. Chill until pudding

Nephrolepis exaltata toniensis

Boston fern still a favorite

One of the many reasons for the increasing popularity of Boston ferns (Nephrolepis exaltata toniensis) may well be pure nostalgia. Since its discovery in a shipment of sword ferns received in Boston many years ago, it has graced everything from the simplest home to the most elegant estate dating

Irrigation system

A drip irrigation system properly installed and managed can save up to 60% of all water used for garden care. With water becoming an increasingly limited resource, drip irrigation is coming of age. The system uses polyethylene piping and 3/16 inch vinyl "spaghetti" tubing leading to small plastic distributors located at the base of plants being irrigated.

back to the 19th century. Of the many varieties of N. exaltata which, as a species, is seldom seen today in cultivation, the Boston fern is probably the most familiar. Its semi-arching fronds are delicate and broader than the species, cascading in a manner that makes it just about the perfect hanging basket. Despite fads in indoor foliage plants, few varieties have maintained such high acceptance over so many years as the graceful Boston fern.

The idea that Boston ferns are temperamental probably stems from the era of plastic plants when the care of the living variety threatened to become a lost art. Now that the pendulum has swung in the opposite direction, most people have discovered that the Boston fern responds enthusiastically to even modest care.

North or medium light is desirable with indoor temperatures in the 65 degree F. to 80 degree F. range. Full sun, excessive dryness and heat are its worst enemies. To avoid too moist a soil, try misting. The amount of light may determine the schedule for fertilizing: every six months in medium light, more often if the light is on the high side. Use a diluted fish-emulsion fertilizer.

Grooming a Boston fern — that is, removing old fronds that have browned — is beneficial for the plant, allowing it room for new shoots while helping to maintain its cool, green elegance.

Boston ferns are propagated by offshoots with re-potting advisable when the plant becomes pot-bound. A rich, loose, "woody" soil mix will provide good drainage and duplicate its natural growing environment.

Few indoor foliage plants have such wide acceptance among interior designers as the Boston fern because of BOSTON FERN — Despite fads in indoor plants, the Boston fern continues to maintain a high level of popularity. The plant, which requires little care, has won wide acceptance among interior designers because of its great adaptability to being displayed in a hanging basket or on a fern stand.

Mexican cuisine: sophisticated kind of cookery

What comes to mind when you think of Mexican food? Tacos? Enchiladas? Tamales?

Many Americans conjure up thoughts of tortillas filled with hot sauce and beans.

But Mexican cuisine is much more than a collection of spicy dishes covered with tomato sauce. It's a richly diverse and sophisticated kind of cookery based on 500 years of history and tradition.

The culinary cross-breeding of Mayan, Incan, Aztec and Spanish foods produced a style of cooking that's a unique and distinctive hybrid. Truly, a Mexican "melting pot."

It Started With The Indians

When the Spanish explorer Cortez landed in Mexico in the sixteenth century, he discovered an already sophisticated Indian cuisine.

The food displays in the Aztec capital of Tenochtitlan (Mexico City) dazzled the weary Spaniard. As a visitor to Montezuma's court, he watched the Aztec emperor dine on such delicacies as: white tamales with beans formed a sea shell on top; turkey with a sauce of small chilies, testes seeds; white fish with yellow chili; lobster with red chili, tomato and ground squash seeds; squash flowers; small cactus fruits with fish eggs; and numerous chocolate drinks.

The menu included hundreds of items.

The Indians relied on the region's abundant game and fish as mainstays of their diet. But plain roast meat was rare in traditional Mexican cooking, partly because it had to be boiled for hours before human teeth could cope with its toughness.

So, almost everything was cooked in a sauce to add flavor.

The full Mexican cuisine has hundreds of sauces. Some are simple, just chilies — or chilies, onions and tomatoes — chopped fine, mixed with water or vinegar. The more complicated sauces are generally called moles, which comes from the Aztec word, molli, meaning a sauce flavored with chili. Three bold flavors dominated Mexican cooking: red, green and black chilies; lime-flavored cornmeal; and beans.

There are an estimated 61 classified varieties of chilies in Mexico alone, and they come sweet, pungent and hot. Mexican cuisine has always been a challenge to the senses and the distinctive taste of chilies is a great contributing factor.

Corn was the sacred plant of the Mexican Indian religion. And it was the main source of energy and protein in the Indian diet. Many foods were made from this versatile plant, but the most important was the tortilla (made from lime-flavored cornmeal). It became Mexico's national bread, its staff and staple of life and cooking. Mexican Indians prepared tortillas over 3,000 years ago. Today, tortilla factories mass produce these corn cakes, using the same ingredients as the early Indians: corn, powdered lime and water.

Although corn was the Indians' staple, beans were also important for they supplied protein. In Aztec times there were probably even more kinds of beans than corn. They came in many sizes from very small to very large. They were white, black, yellow, red, brown, pink and speckled. They were boiled in stews and soups or mashed and mixed with chili or other flavorings.

The chili-corn bean combination formed the food foundation of the ancient Indian civilization.

Then Came The Spanish

The influx of Spanish conquistadors had a deep impact on Mexican cooking. The Spaniards brought with them new foods and cooking techniques which helped to widen the Mexican food horizon.

One of the most important contributions from the Old World was livestock — namely pigs and dairy cattle.

From the swine came lard. The Spanish showed the Indians how to cook many foods in a new and handy way, by frying. The pre-Conquest Indians had not used cooking fats or oils. Their food was boiled, broiled, steamed or eaten raw. Their fancy fishes were elaborate stews containing many ingredients cooked into a thick sauce. Frying added a new dimension.

Mexican cookery developed in a culture influenced by bright colors, bold shapes and piquant fragrances. That's why its so appealing to the eye as well as the palate. A culinary gift to the world from the Mexican "melting pot."

ARE YOU OPERATING UNDER A FICTITIOUS BUSINESS NAME?

If you are, are you aware that the California Business and Professions Code requires you to do the following:

1. File a fictitious business name statement with the county clerk in the county where you have your principal place of business.
2. Have the statement published once a week for four weeks in a newspaper circulating in the area where you are doing business.
3. File a new statement on or before December 31 of the fifth year after the year in which the original statement was filed.

The purpose of this statute is to allow the public to know the true identities of those with whom it has business dealings. Filing is also in your best interest since in the event of non-compliance you will be prevented from maintaining any action on an account or contract or with regard to any transaction that you have had while operating under your fictitious name.

You should consult with your attorney for further details regarding compliance.

David Benelisha

Navy Gunner's Mate 3C David E. Benelisha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benelisha of 9410 Columbine, Montclair, was a member of a naval task group which visited Mombasa, Kenya, for the 13th anniversary of Kenyan independence.

The task group was composed of two other ships and two Marine Corps aircraft squadrons, with a combined complement of nearly 2,000 U.S. Navy men and Marines. The four-day, goodwill visit was made at the request of the Kenyan government and provided for a period of rest and refueling after routine fleet operations in the Indian Ocean.

AV-8A "Harrier" jet aircraft from Marine Attack Squadron (VMA)-231, flying from the USS Guam, performed a ceremonial "fly-by" for official celebrations in the capitol city of Nairobi, 250 miles inland.

Visitors were welcomed aboard his ship and a special program was set up for Kenyan naval officers and enlisted men to meet with their American counterparts for social and professional exchanges. He and his shipmates also had the opportunity to do some sightseeing in the East African port, including tours of wild game parks and local shopping bazaars.

He joined the Navy in April 1973.
